Quest™

Crystal Quest is the fast moving, adrenalin boiling sequel to the smash hit, Crystal Raider. Crystal Quest™ has 300K of incredible digitized sound. Your job is to collect all the crystals and avoid all the mines, bullets, and 12 different sort of nasties that will be out to get you in 40 different waves! There are nasties that will hide in the corner and gush bullets like a hail storm, nasties that bob around quite harmlessly—unless you stay still—then come at you like a cruise missile, & nasties which can't be killed, but just hibernate for awhile when shot—It is a very nasty game!

The Crystal Quest Repertoire of Nasties:

Annoyer
(25 Points)

Buzz around quite harmlessly. (If you believe that, you'll believe anything.)

Husket
(200 Points)

Buzz around far from harmlessly, shooting high-speed bullets * at you.

Worrier
(50 Points)

Buzz around slightly less harmlessly, occasionally shooting @ at you.

Bane
(300 Points)

Drop bouncing bombs * that can't be destroyed.

Pest
(100 Points)

Wander about quite happily, dropping special mines @ just where you really DON'T want them.

Menace
(250 Points)

Fire laser beams at you. What do you mean that isn't very fair? It's extremely fair. For them.

Dimple
(2000 Points)

Great blobs of gunk that wobble about generally getting in your way. These take quite a few shots before they die.

Tentawarble
(200 Points)

These are quite OK unless you are ever unwise enough to stay still . . .

Zarklephaser
(150 Points)

These little #!£$%s emit bullets x like a hail storm.

Parasite
(1000 Points)

Once attached you can't shake them off. A bit like someone nailing your shoes to your feet really.

Trimpet
(No Points)

Shooting one of these only makes it hibernate x for a few seconds before springing back to life.

Bonus Crystal
(??? Points)

These are not in the slightest bit nasty. Catch them to get a bonus, shoot them to lose it.
